UNIVERSITY OF DELHI

Report on Global Roti Day and Nasha Mukht Bharat Initiative

On 20th September 2025, the NSS Society of our college, under the guidance of NSS Programme Officer Dr. Manorama and the support of our respected Principal Professor Hari Mohan Sharma, collaborated with the Vishalakshi Foundation to participate in their noble initiatives, Global Roti Day and Nasha Mukht Bharat. The event was designed to create awareness about two major challenges faced by our country today: the widespread issue of substance abuse and the persistent problem of hunger.

As a part of this initiative, a 5 km walk was organized from Kashmere Gate to the Faculty of Arts, University of Delhi. More than 300 enthusiastic participants, including students from different colleges, came together to make this campaign impactful. The huge crowd reflected the collective commitment of the youth towards building a healthier, addiction-free society.

During the walk, our NSS volunteers actively distributed food packets to people on the roadside. This gesture was symbolic of the broader message of Global Roti Day—that no one should go to bed hungry in a country like India. By combining the cause of food distribution with the awareness walk, the event powerfully highlighted the importance of fighting two pressing issues simultaneously: the menace of drugs and the tragedy of starvation.

The objective of the campaign was not only to spread awareness against substance abuse under the Nasha Mukht Bharat Abhiyan, but also to underline the importance of compassion, responsibility, and collective action in addressing social challenges. As our volunteers interacted with bystanders and beneficiaries of the food distribution, the message reached the ground in a practical and meaningful way.

The presence of such a large and motivated crowd created an atmosphere of positivity and solidarity. The streets witnessed a strong voice against addiction and hunger, showcasing how youth-led initiatives can inspire change at the grassroots level. The collaboration with the Vishalakshi Foundation further added value by combining experience, structure, and purpose to the campaign.

This event served as a reminder that small actions, such as offering a meal or raising a voice against unhealthy practices, can lead to larger social transformation. The NSS Society is proud to have been part of this impactful initiative and remains committed to supporting such causes in the future. With continuous efforts and collective participation, we can aspire towards a healthier, stronger, and more compassionate India.

The NSS Society extends heartfelt gratitude to Professor Hari Mohan Sharma and Dr. Manorama for their constant guidance, encouragement, and support in making this event a success.
